JULY/AUGUST 2012

Starkdale Presbyterian Church

Dear Starkdale Family (members, friends and regular worship guests),

On June 3 we began our traditional summer schedule. While the schedule for most activities, ministries, and programs continue to be the same, Sunday school is now at 9:00 A.M., worship is at 10:00 A.M., and the choir practice will not resume until the beginning of September.

This change has been rewarding in several ways. It brought together the two separate groups of our church family who have been worshipping at different times. This helped re-strengthen their ties and recommit to each other as members of the same body of believers.

The change also has given our choir members the opportunity for an overdue break, since we have seen how faithful and committed each one of them is to rehearsal times and leading in worship for nine months. That doesn't mean that we will be without music for Sunday worship. The music will continue to be provided by different soloists and groups.

The schedule change, moreover, has helped families, to whom the church is essential, come to church earlier so they can do other things with their families during the day. Some find it easier now to go on vacations, visit with relatives, and enjoy summer activities without feeling guilty. Many of us, however, go to church while on vacations anyway. If you are one of those, please share with me the bulletins of churches you have visited. I enjoy reading other churches' bulletins and learning from them. Who knows – maybe we can use new ideas others are using that may enhance our ministry.

Also, having one adult Sunday school class to teach biblical doctrines, church structure, and the essentials of the Evangelical Presbyterian Denomination promises to enlighten and train us for a more effective leadership in ministry. This class will continue for eight more weeks and as we always say "it is never too late to join us."

And of course, the change has also helped me benefit from getting myself involved in the learning process through the Sunday school class already taking place while attending to the demands of only one service.

So, whatever you do and wherever you go for the remaining portion of this summer, please remember to include time for God and for worship. And if it is at all possible, please join us on Sunday, July 1 for our Annual Patriotic Service and Sunday, July 8 for Communion.

May the Lord bless you with a safe and rewarding summertime. I hope you'll enjoy every minute of it. Finally, as much as you are able, spend as much time as possible with all in the family; don't do things in isolation from others. God knows how easy it is for any of us to do his or her own thing while the rest of our family members are desperate for time together with us.

God bless,

Philip Makari

Outreach Commission News

THANK YOU!

The Outreach Commission and the staff at the Children's Home give a heartfelt "thank you" to all who participated in the "Pinwheel of Hope Tree" project.

Because of your generosity, we were able to supply the Children's Home with a truck load of new and gently used clothing and shoes.

The staff at the Children's Home was speechless as I drove up to deliver the goodies. They asked me to convey their thanks to all of you.

As stated in James 1 Verse 27

Religion that God our Father accepts as pure and faultless is this: to look after orphans and widows in their distress and to keep oneself from being polluted by the world.

Thanks again for helping these kids in need.

ABIGAIL'S ANGELS

UPDATES

The Abigail's Angels Charity Walk Committee gives a big "thank you" to all who baked cookies for us to give away at the Valley Gospel Fest on May 26, 2012.

Although the crowd was very small, those in attendance were very grateful for the free cookies. Over $100 was collected in donations. Praise God!

Also, we were able to spread the word about the upcoming Abigail's Angels Charity Walk to be held on September 22, 2012.

The artists that performed at the Gospel Fest were awesome. This free event is something that should not be missed next year.

Thanks again for your support.

STARKDALE's 2012 VBS

"SON RISE NATIONAL PARK"

Starkdale's Vacation Bible School was a great success! Our theme was "SonRise National Park" and approximately 70 students attended each day. The students enjoyed the thrills of daily treks where they faced challenges and learned to depend on the promises of Jesus, as only He can bring-- True Peace, True Riches, True Power, True Love and True Hope! They participated in fun songs and games, arts and crafts, and were treated with delicious food prepared by our kitchen staff.

The students out did themselves as they contributed once again to "Heifer Project International"; a group which provides animals to needy families throughout the world. $300+ was raised which was enough to buy a water buffalo, they named "Shadow", and a few chickens, ducks, and honeybees.

On Friday the children performed the songs they had learned throughout the week for their family and friends. Following the program, a lunch was enjoyed by all. Kurt James rides were provided in the parking lot until 2:00PM.

I would like to sincerely thank everyone who gave of their time and talents to make this year's VBS a success.

Sandy Conrad—Chair, Nurture Commission and VBS Coordinator

MISSIONS NEWS– Submitted by Denise Miller

Dear Beloved Sister in the Lord, Greetings from Liwonde and how are you there in the USA? We are fine as a family. The two boys will be seating for final secondary school exams starting from this month up to July 2012. Our last born, is completing form one at Domasi Secondary School, I hope you remember that place up Domasi Mission.

We had our fund raising towards the construction works of the new church on 3rd June, the Lord blessed us with the sum of around 1.5 million Malawi Kwacha, of course there are challenges of devaluation against the Dollar, we had recently a fall of 49% devaluation. It is God's work and we trust and obey that He will finish the work that was started.

How is the Sunday School class. Please greet them all and encourage them to love the Lord who first loved us.

The details I gave you concerning banking, did it work or there are still some other issues to sort out. We have never had an experience in that transaction but we think it can work, of course not sure of the cost that may be attached to it.

We are in the coldest season and the lowest temperatures occur in this month of June.

Continue to interceed for our church and the nation. Remember also to pray for our family, for continued protection and blessings also that we should be able to meet our needs and bless others.

Finally, greet all the colleagues in the service of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Stay blessed in the Lord.

Andraida & Daves

May 2012,

Dear Friends and family,

Pentecost greetings from the Warm Heart of Africa.

This Pentecost weekend I had a conversation with a Malawian friend that gave me a whole new insight into the role of the Holy Spirit in our lives. He was telling me about his early life in a village in Nkhata Bay, in the central region.

The economy was bad and a number of the men from the village went to South Africa and Zambia to work. After they had been earning money over a number of years, they came back to the village to provide for their families. They were expected to provide the material needs not just for their wives and children but for their nieces and nephews, for aunts and uncles, for all the extended family. And they did so. They knew what was expected of them. Because they had lived away from the village and had seen other ways of life, they were regarded as wiser than the rest of the villagers.

They were called upon to settle disputes within their extended families. People from the village came to them for counsel. They were expected to advise the younger members of the family in issues they were facing. They were sought out when decisions needed to be made in the family and in the village. My friend said that no one ever asked them about their lives away from the village or what they had done to earn the money to support so many people. The villagers just looked upon them as providers and as wise men. They were called nkhoswe. That is a Chichewa term that means comforter, mediator, advocate, counselor/ advisor, intermediary, or witness. All of these meanings applied to the one who came back and cared for the physical and emotional needs of the village family.

Today in wedding ceremonies here, nkhoswe are those who stand, one with the bride and one with the groom, as the couple says their marriage vows. These individuals are expected to stand by the couple throughout their married lives, to be there to give advice and to help settle any disputes that might arise in the marriage. They are the advocates for the bride or the groom, and the counselor to both.

Interestingly, the Chichewa translation of the Bible uses Nkhoswe in John 14:16 in describing the Holy Spirit. The Chichewa says that the Father will send Nkhoswe to you. In English we translate that Counselor. That has a limited meaning. But Nkhoswe carries so much more of who the Spirit is in our lives of faith. I found that description of the Holy Spirit refreshing and encouraging as I thought about the role of Nkhoswe in this society.. It helped me to think afresh on the work of the Holy Spirit in my life. I see it in the lives of my Malawian friends who live more clearly in the knowledge of the Holy Spirit at work in everyday activities as well as in the big events of life. They understand that they have a powerful Nkhoswe in the Holy Spirit.

My prayer for you this Pentecost season is that you will know the power and presence of the Nkhoswe in your own life. Pray that we may all live in the power of the Holy Spirit in all that we do.

Yours in love,

Kay (Cathie to family)
