HYMN NOTES

O the Deep, Deep Love of Jesus

Few hymns paint such a vivid picture of God's love as this one by Samuel Trevor Francis: vast, unmeasured, boundless, free;/ rolling as a mighty ocean in its fullness over me./ Underneath me, all around me, is the current of Thy love..... It helps us visualize the immensity of Christ's liquid-love, overwhelming and submerging us in the depths of His tender, triumphant heart.

Samuel was born on November 19, 1834, in a village north of London, but his parents soon moved to the city of Hull midway up the English coast. His father was an artist. As a child, Samuel enjoyed poetry and even compiled a little hand written volume of his own poetry. He also developed a passion for music, joining the church choir at age nine. But as a teenager, he struggled spiritually, and when he moved to London to work, he knew things weren't right in his heart.

One day, as he later wrote, "I was on my way home from work and had to cross Hungerford Bridge to the south of the Thames. During the winter's night of wind and rain and in the loneliness of that walk, I cried to God to have mercy on me. I stayed for a moment to look at the dark waters flowing under the bridge, and the temptation was whispered to me: 'Make an end of all this misery.' I drew back from the evil thought, and suddenly a message was borne into my very soul: 'You do believe in the Lord Jesus Christ?' I at once answered, 'I do believe,' and I put my whole trust in Him as my Savior."

Francis went to become a London merchant, but his real passion was Kingdom work-especially hymn writing and open-air preaching-which occupied his remaining seventy-three years. He traveled widely and preached around the world for the Plymouth Brethren. He died on December 28, 1925, at age ninety-two.

Ebenezer, the ponderous, rolling melody for this hymn is traditionally called "ton-Y-Botel" (Tune in a Bottle") because of a legend that it was found in a bottle along the Welsh coast. It was actually composed by Thomas J. Williams and first appeared in a hymn tune in 1890 in a Welsh hymnal entitled Llawlyfn Moli-ant.
